

Provo Canyon Construction Project Update

Mid-Construction Survey

As the mid-way point of the Provo Canyon Construction Project approaches, the project team would like to hear from you. A mid-construction survey will be available on the project web site beginning in mid-October for anyone who would like to provide feedback to the project team.

Feedback from the those impacted by the project is very valuable and allows the project team to tailor the public involvement efforts to meet the needs of everyone who travels through the canyon.

Some of the information we will be seeking through this survey will include the following:

- How often people travel through the canyon
- How well the project team notifies the public of construction activities and closures
- What the best method of communication is for alerting the public about canyon closures

The project team hopes you will take the time to fill out the survey and let us know what we can do to better serve you.

Nighttime Closures

As the Provo Canyon Project continues to move forward, nighttime closures in Provo Canyon will be taking place while construction crews excavate the rock face just east of the Deer Creek Dam. The closures may take place Monday through Friday nights between 10 p.m. and 6 a.m. Please keep in mind that full closures are necessary to ensure the safety of the traveling public. However, there are times when a closure will be deemed unnecessary by the contractor and the canyon will be opened to the traveling public. When this occurs the project web site and hotline will be updated and an email will be sent to the project database. If you would like to be included in the email updates, please send your email address to: provo-canyon@hwlochner.com.
